

Does depth predict chromatic contrast before and after size correction?

Raw values

After size correction

